Foreword

A river, in flowing, passes bends and turns, rapids and whirlpools, eddies and back-waters and finally flows into the sea. It is heightened and strengthened by tributary rivers which flow into it. In its passing, it nourishes the land, gains from it, yet leaves part of itself behind.

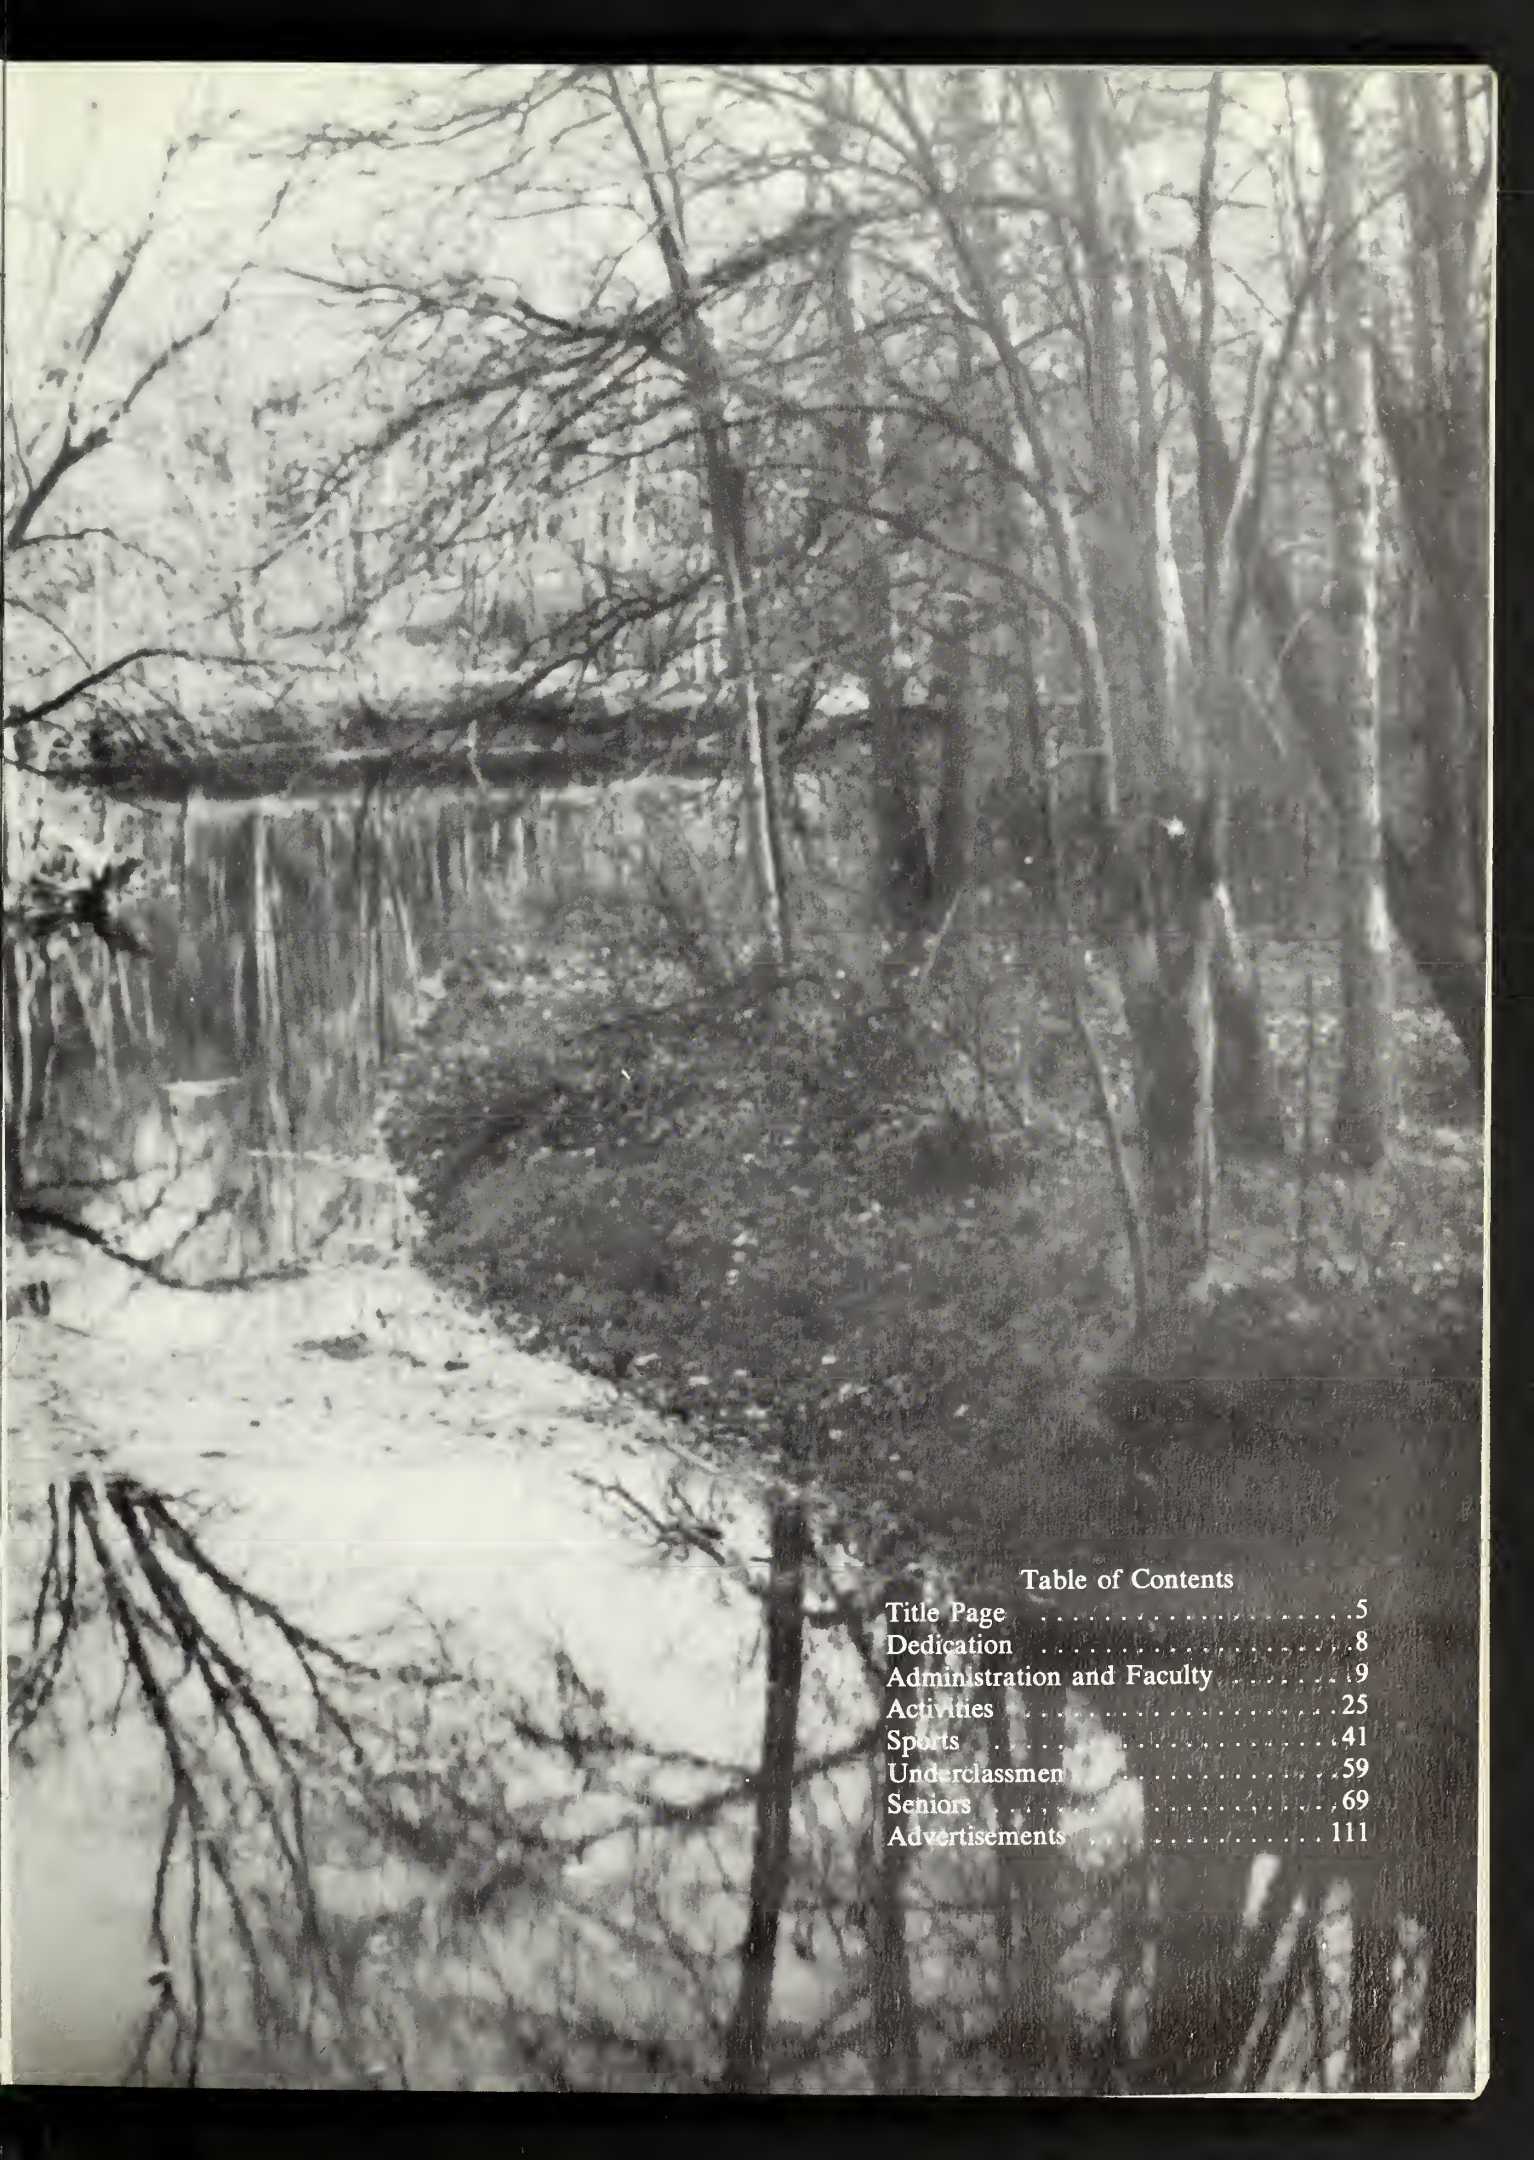

We, too, pass on. Here we have grown and been strengthened. We have met rapids and eddies. Now we shall pass into the open sea of the world before us, yet we leave a part of ourselves here.

"The river, spreading, flows — and spends your dream. What are you, lost within this tideless spell? You are your father's father, and the stream — A liquid theme."

DEDICATION

Outstanding teaching is much like modern jazz.

A good teacher improvises. He varies his themes to suit the needs and interests of his students; he is different, and his students learn.

He has rhythm. To be alive, and project himself he has a beat, a tempo to catch the interest of his students.

Just as modern jazz is composed of many shifting moods, light to dark, this teacher is flexible. He laughs with his students, yet impresses upon them the seriousness of his subject.

Jazz is an individual art, as is teaching. An effective teacher is an individual using his skills and talent to interest others.

There is an enthusiasm which jazz captures that stirs the listener. Fine teaching, by its enthusiasm, stirs the student, arouses him.

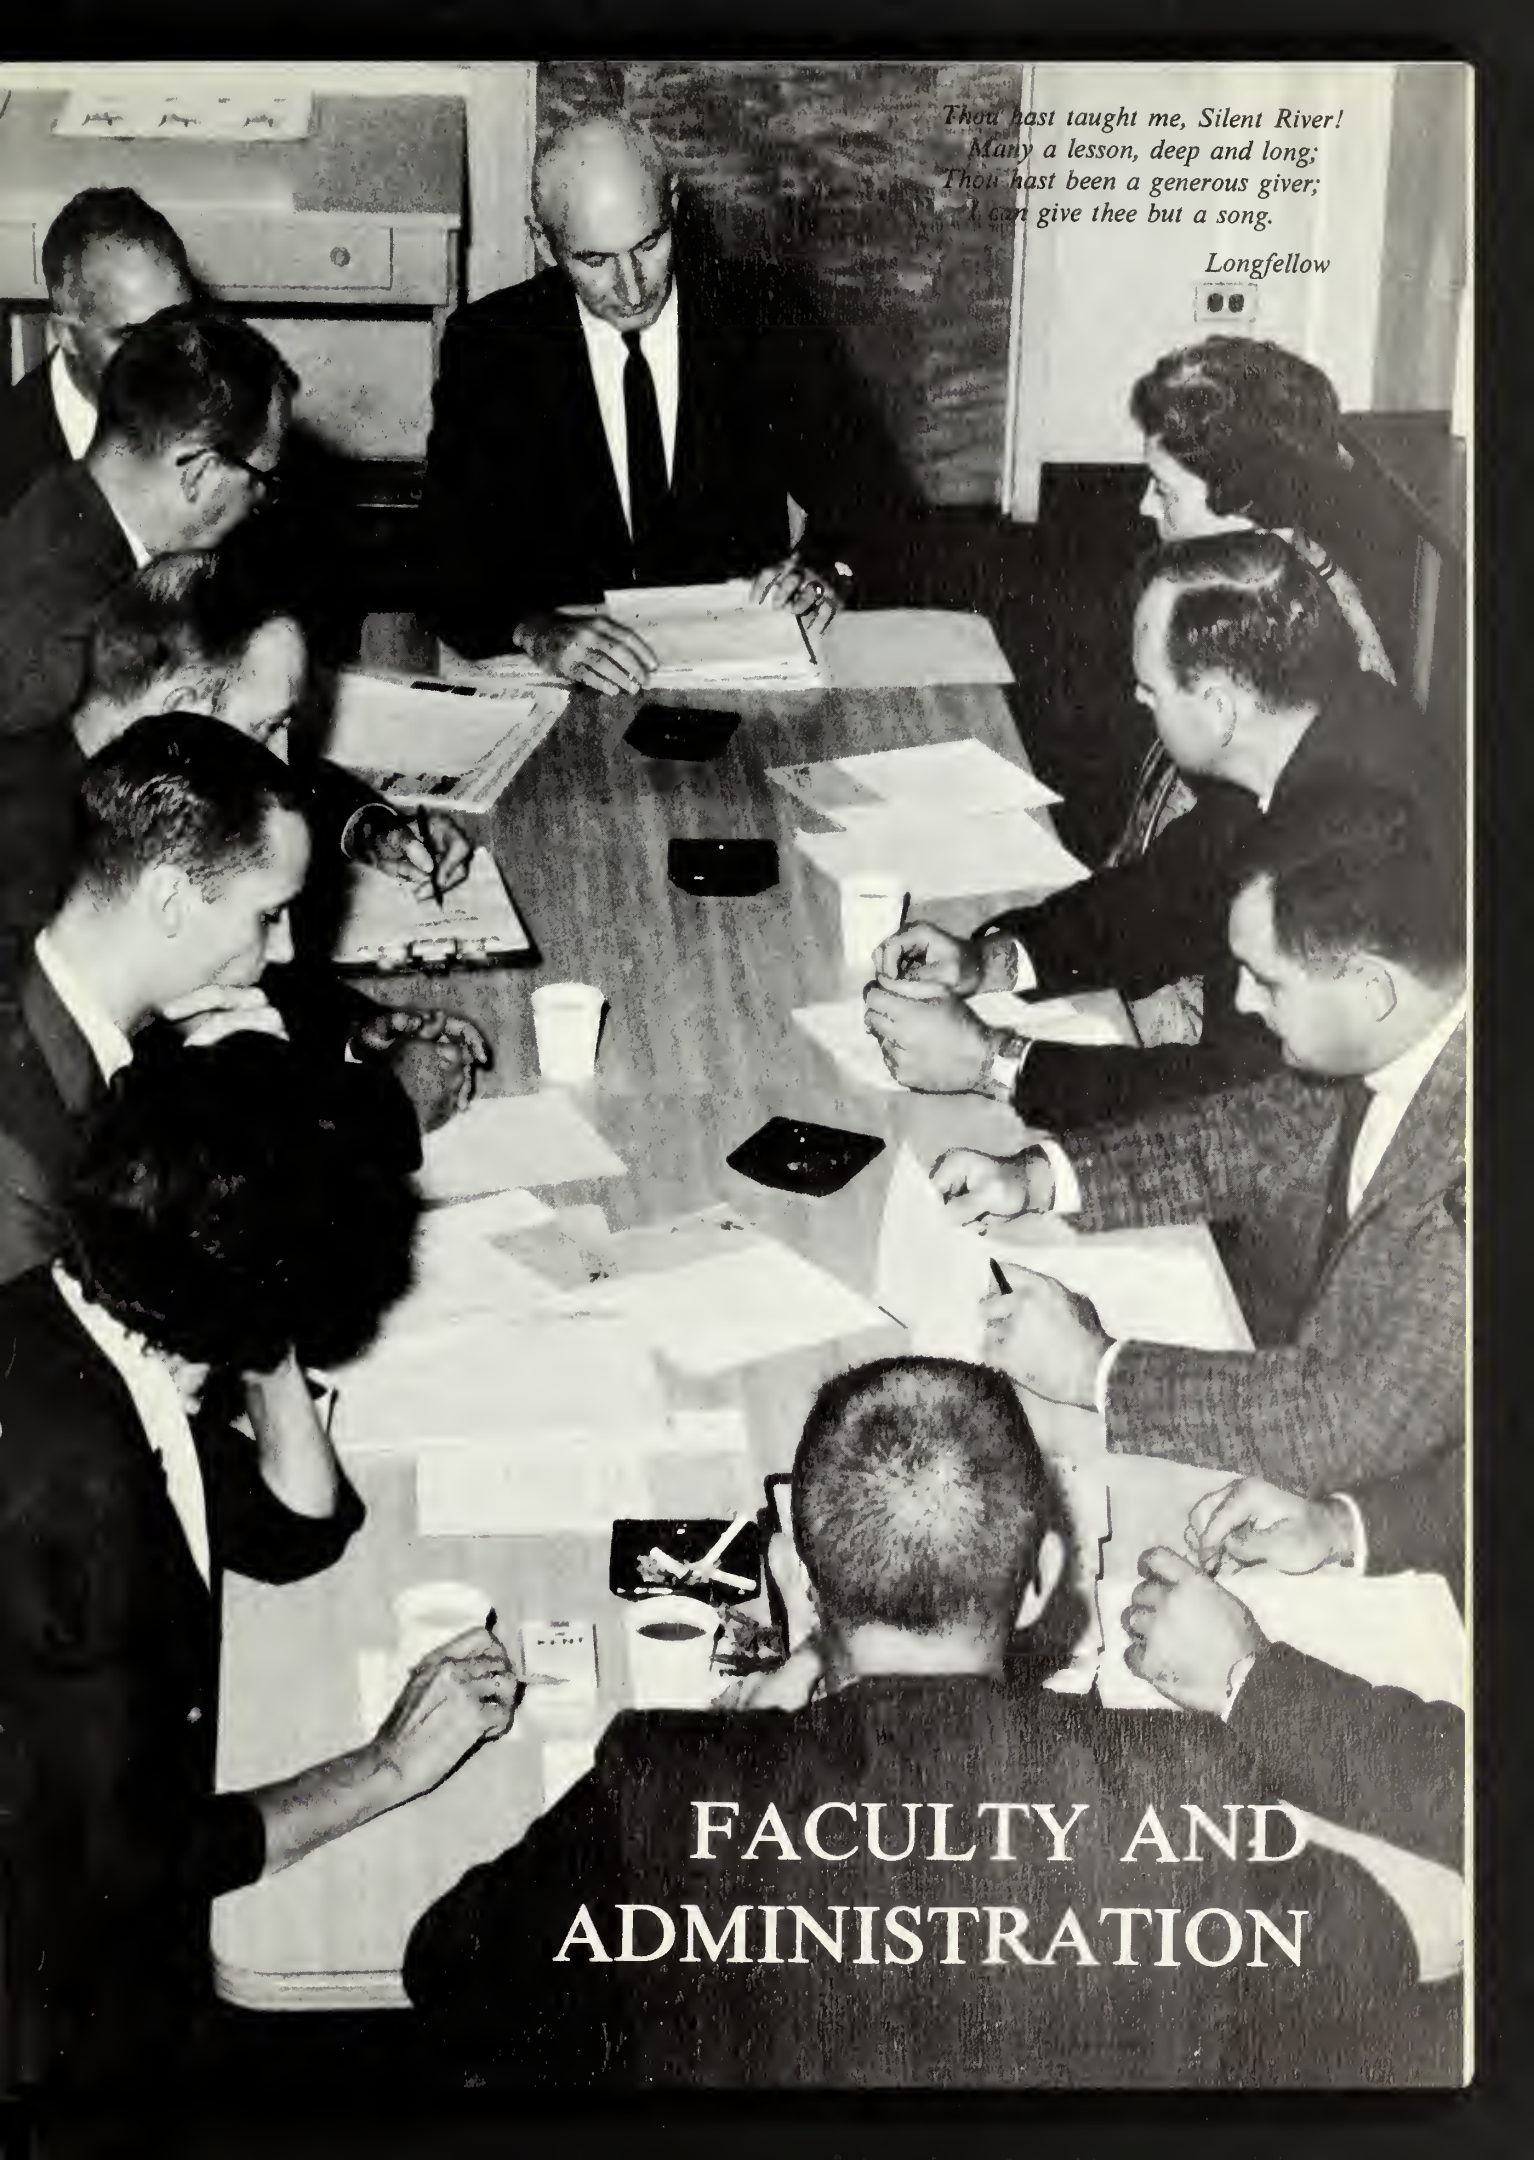

Though simple on the surface and easy to understand, jazz has a depth, a complex nature. The good teacher is also easy to understand, yet can draw on a deep store of knowledge and understanding to satisfy his students. We, the class of 1966, have found such a teacher and we dedicate our yearbook, the 1966 Golden Years, to him, Mr. Alan Lockwood.

*"Drum on your drums, batter on your banjos, sob on your long cool
Winding saxophones. Go to it, O jazzmen.
Can the rough stuff . . . Now a Mississippi Steamboat pushes up
the night river . . . and the green lanterns calling to the high soft stars . . . a red moon rides on the bumps of the low river hill . . .
go to it, O jazzmen"*

Carl Sandburg

*Thou hast taught me, Silent River!
Many a lesson, deep and long;
Thou hast been a generous giver;
I can give thee but a song.*

FACULTY AND ADMINISTRATION

Dr. Quinn

Dr. Quinn has been our superintendent all through our senior high school years. Under his administration, several new school policies have been initiated. Among the new policies are the Cooperative Work Experience Program, in which the top ranking business and technical students go out to work for four days and go to school one day a week for a ten week period.

Relative grading, in which the students are graded in relation to each other, has also been introduced. New programs which were introduced this fall are the Screen Education and Visual Perception Programs. Through Screen Education, students correlate literature with full length film presentations. In Visual Perception student volunteers attend class and see slide tape presentations, take pictures, and write compositions about the relations they perceive.

New subjects introduced since the arrival of Dr. Quinn are, Academic: Spanish I, II, and III, Social Studies I, II, and III; BSCS Biology, CBA Chemistry, Advanced Placement History, Physics, and Mathematics; Business: Accounting, Personal Typing, Business Law/Business Management, and Retail Sales; Technical: Technical Math I and II; Basic Electricity and Electronics, Applied Physical Science and Graphic Art.

The one year old North Reading Junior High and proposed plans for elementary school construction have been sparked by the student population increase from 2237 to 2841 and the professional staff from 98 to 148 in the North Reading schools during the last four years.

"What do you mean there's a paper shortage?"

Principal's Message

"It's the thoughts in the heart that make a man, not his color or creed nor his native land."

This quotation expresses the American ideal and the spirit of tolerance and fair play which I hope you have learned here. Golden Years are happy years, precious years for all, and not to be denied to any member of our society for superficial reasons. If this message reaches your heart and resides there, these will truly be Golden Years for you.

My best wishes go with every one of you. Good luck and God speed.

Mr. Kenney

Mr. Barresi

Assistant Principal

During our four high school years, Mr. Barresi has given us someone to confide in, and he has assisted our principal.

He has played a major role in keeping our school running smoothly.

All of us who have, or created problems have someone to go to for advice and counsel.

Mrs. Delaney

Due in part to Mrs. Delaney and Mr. Wisharts' help, each year more and more Seniors are going to colleges from North Reading High. They not only suggest the colleges but give us encouragement and recommendations.

This year they sponsored a "Careers Day" with speakers from Northeastern as well as admissions representatives who came to interview prospective applicants.

"37 Seniors accepted by Harvard???"

GUIDANCE

Mrs. Delaney at work.

OFFICE STAFF

No day is complete without the morning, afternoon, and in between times calling to the office of certain unfortunate students.

The office staff is responsible for typing all forms, bulletins, letters and other communications between the administration and the students. Somehow, lost lunches and forgotten gym suits find a home under the protection of our friends in the office.

The office is an integral and very important factor in the running of our school, and does its work efficiently and well.

HEALTH

How a student is feeling determines the type of work he will do. The nurses and doctor are ready to help the student feel as well as he possibly can. To determine specific problems, eye and ear tests, as well as physicals are given yearly.

Mrs. Rideout, Mrs. Gascoigne, Dr. Coster.

Mrs. Johnson, Mrs. Redding, Mrs. Marston, Mrs. Carr, Mrs. Kirkland, Miss Jenkins, Mrs. Logan, Mrs. Devine.

KITCHEN

"Stop complaining."

Adequate nourishment is very important in a student's performance. The kitchen staff spends many hours preparing food for students and teachers, and cleaning up afterwards.

MAINTENANCE

Maintenance is very important in any building. Keeping the school looking good and keeping desks, lights and electrical equipment in good working order are just a few of the many important jobs of the maintenance men. Although their job is long and tedious, the clean school reflects their efforts.

MATH DEPARTMENT

In the highly technical and precise world of today, mathematics is a vital basis for many pursuits. Offering courses in Algebra I and II, Geometry, Trigonometry, Calculus, Algebra-Geometry Review, and Business Math, the Math Department gives the student the background necessary to prepare him for participation in such a society.

The Math Department offers benefits even to the students whose interests do not lie in the fields of math or science. The training the student receives in logical thought and the systematic analysis of problems will prove beneficial in any field he may eventually enter.

ENGLISH DEPARTMENT

The English Department has the honor of being one of seven English Departments in the country involved in the Education Through Vision Program. In this program, students are taught to be more aware and more appreciative of their surroundings.

In recent years the entire four year curriculum has been revised, providing opportunities to study American, English, and World Literature, and Speech.

English is an important part of the entire curriculum because writing and speaking are involved in each subject, and the department tries to give the student the best possible background.

HISTORY DEPARTMENT

World History, U.S. History, Problems of Democracy, Government and World Affairs, Russian History and Social Science are taught by the History Department.

The World History classes form a team in which the teachers take turns lecturing to combined classes on subjects ranging from architecture to philosophy.

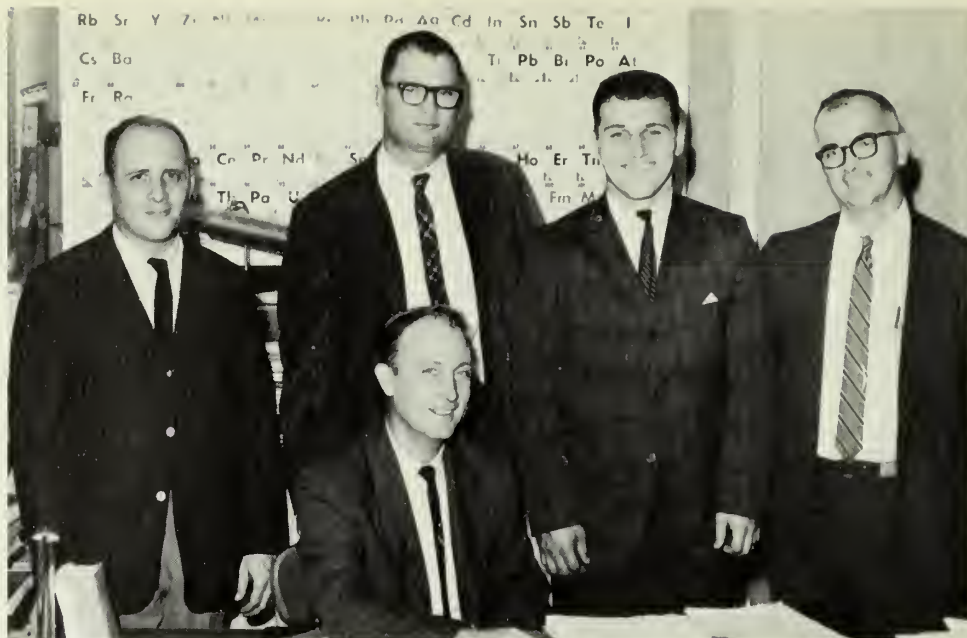

The History Department sponsors the World Affairs Club. This is associated with the American Field Service, which sponsors the Exchange Student Program.

SCIENCE DEPARTMENT

"Aah-a-ah — we see you Mr. Sirois!"

There is always something brewing in the science department labs. Anything from the preparing of hydrogen to the dissecting of cats goes on. From the basic electricity labs may come the shaking results of success, and from Mr. Haney's Chemistry II labs may come anything up to tomorrow's nuclear weapons. Sometimes in approaching the C-5 area, you can very easily "sense" that the scientists of tomorrow are hard at work.

Once a year the seniors visit the Museum of Science.

The courses offered by the Science Department are: Earth Science, Biology, Chemistry I and II, Physics, Anatomy, Senior Science, and Basic Electricity.

"Bet you wish you had one."

"A scientific approach to football."

"What do you mean you've concluded the angle of incidence doesn't equal the angle of reflection!?"

SEATED: Mr. Venti, Department Chairman.

"Students using the language lab."

LANGUAGE DEPARTMENT

The Language Department offers courses of instruction in four years of French, three years of Spanish, and three years of Latin.

For the extra benefit of its students, the Language Department includes in its program a language laboratory. In the "lab" (as it is known to students), students can listen to tapes of conversations, essays, songs, and quizzes. The student can also tape his own voice and play back the tape to hear his pronunciation.

The literature of the language is presented to the students through plays read during the year, short stories, and its great novels. Further developing the students background and interest, activities such as Latin Club provide the opportunity to learn about the history and daily life of the people of the language.

"Oh-h Jungle Rot!"

"C'est la main."

Mr. Bradley, Miss Dardeno, Mr. Clarkin, Department Chairman, Mrs. Dalton.

BUSINESS DEPARTMENT

The Business Department is concerned not only with preparing students for a business career but also in training them in the knowledge, attitudes, and non-vocational skills needed by all persons to be effective in their personal economics, and in their understanding of our business-economic system.

There are three tracks in the Business Curriculum; Secretarial, Accounting and Clerical, each having appropriate courses.

The business Department also hopes to aid its students develop business-economic literacy and to become intelligent consumers of goods and services.

For the past three years the students have had an opportunity to participate, on a selective basis, in a co-operative work experience program in conjunction with the local business community.

The Business Department offers the following courses: Typing I, II and personal, typing, shorthand I, nd II, Bookkeeping I and II, General Business, Office Practice, Retail and Sales, Business Law/Business Management, and Advanced Secretarial Training.

"Would a secretary do that?"

"Now would I tell a lie?"

"Good morning, North Reading High School, C-9, Mr. Clarkin speaking. May I help you?"

HOME ECONOMICS

Under the instruction of Mrs. Young, the girls who desire to take Home Economics learn many things which will greatly benefit them.

Among other things the girls learn about styles, color combinations, and the correct procedures in cooking and sewing.

Home Ec is a very worthwhile and enjoyable course.

INDUSTRIAL ARTS

The Industrial Arts instructors are Mr. Sticklor and Mr. Vennard.

The Industrial Arts courses are designed to teach boys skills which will be useful to them throughout their lives, such as printing, mechanical drawing, and woodworking.

The projects of the students can be seen in the Industrial Arts showcase near the gym.

Through the widely varied musical programs offered at NRHS, the student can realize a fuller high school experience. Such activities as Glee Club and Band, headed by Mr. Weisse, offer the student the opportunity to develop his interest in music as well as extending to him the invitation to a more satisfying experience.

MUSIC

Mr. Weisse conducts.

For those students with an artistic inclination, there are several satisfying programs offered at NRHS. Under the direction of Mr Hughes, electives in art ranging from art minor to the intense art major offer students the opportunity to gain practical knowledge and experience in their field of interest, and also, offers students the key to a broader field of interest.

ART

Mr. Hughes and a group of art students.

LIBRARY

Our center of research, the library offers us a complete selection of reference works, and a wide variety of fiction and non fiction books. Mrs. Eisenhaure, the librarian, is always willing to help the students locate information.

Students may go to the library during their study periods or after school, and classes are sometimes held in the library to do research work.

AUDIO VISUAL

Through the audio visual department, under Mr. Sampson, comes the different audio visual machines, often used in teaching. From record players to overhead projectors, audio visual machines are playing a greater and greater role in education.

Mr. Levey and Miss McLaughlin.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION

Physical Education, even though a required course, is also beneficial to the individual. It not only provides exercise for the student, but helps him develop skills which would perhaps lie otherwise undiscovered. Physical Education also acquaints the student with various forms of recreation.

In their gym classes the girls have activities such as field hockey, folk dancing, gymnastics, basketball, volleyball, softball, and track. The boys take part in flag football, crab soccer, basketball, gymnastics, volleyball, boxing, track, and several other sports.

There are programs and sports in which the student may take part outside the gym classes.

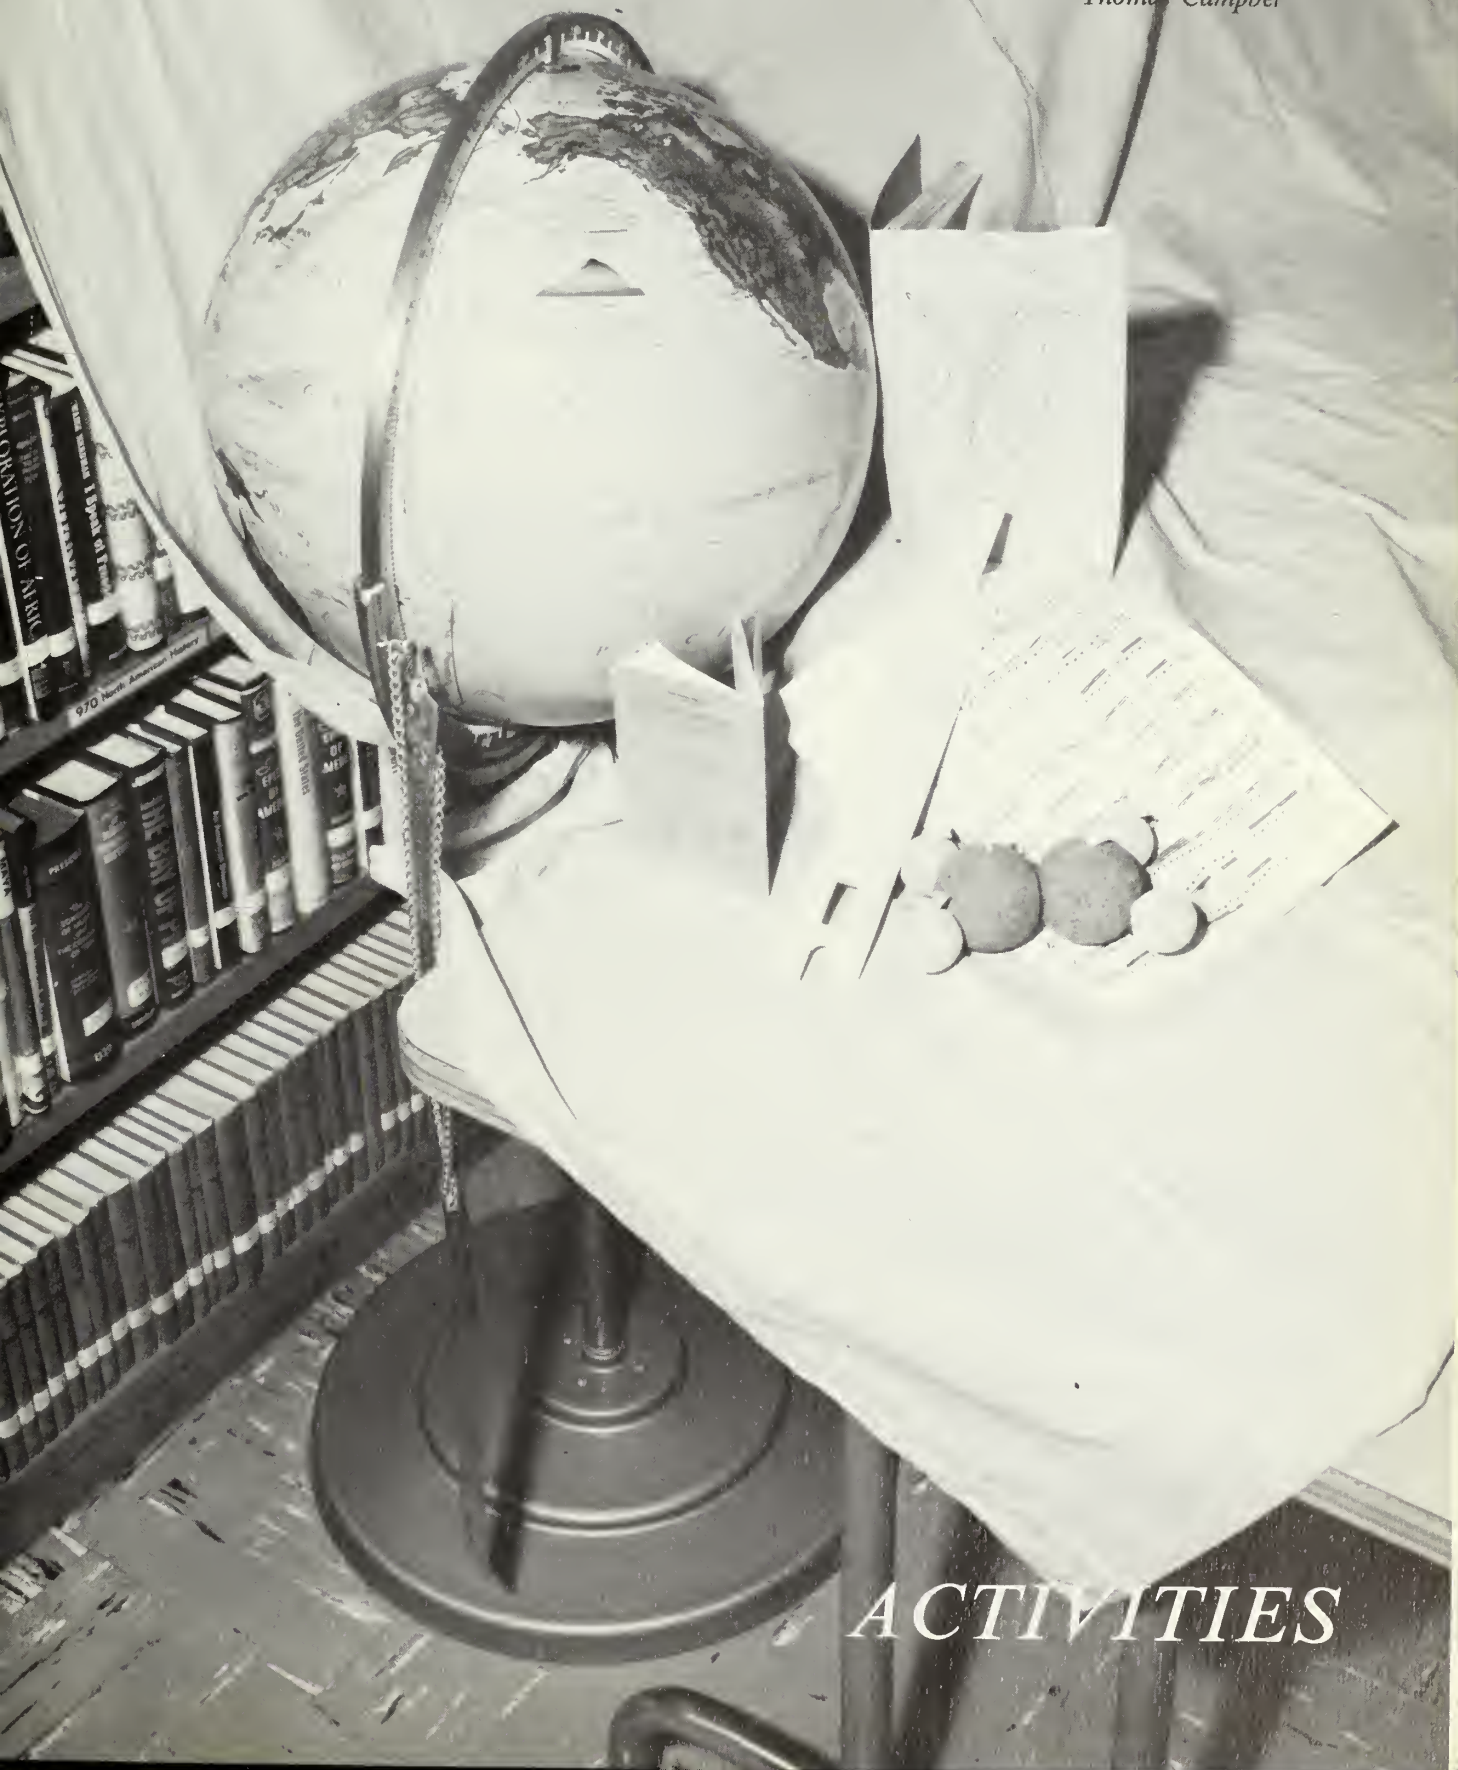

Physical fitness is very important and the physical education program gets us off on the right foot.

STUDENT COUNCIL

One of the most vital organizations at North Reading is the Student Council. Meeting on Thursday afternoons, they represent the opportunity for the student body to express their views and take action upon issues which concern them.

Meetings are often extended to nearly four o'clock, to allow for debate and discussion upon such problems as student representation. Projects for the year are planned, such as the annual student-faculty game, and committees are formed to investigate such ideas as the establishment of a student court.

The Student Council, advised by Mr. Mannheim, has a great responsibility and a great effect upon the student life, and most important, it is a kind of "exercise in democracy" for the students, preparing us to become more active participants in our governments.

WORLD AFFAIRS CLUB

Should we withdraw from Vietnam? What can we do to control the spread of nuclear weapons? Who was Millard Fillmore? These are only a few of the questions which the World Affairs Club asks during its Wednesday meetings.

Assisted by their advisor, Mr. Lockwood, they answer these and many other questions. The club is based on the purpose of promoting interest and knowledge of world events and their significance. The World Affairs Club runs various activities during the year. These activities range from debates and discussions to films and opinion surveys. The club also runs fund-raising projects for the benefit of the local American Field Service chapter, such as the 1066 Dance, commemorating the 900th anniversary of the Battle of Hastings.

Reflecting the vital interest in mathematics of many students, Math Club provides them with an opportunity to compete with the top math students of other local high schools in monthly math meets.

At meets, the tensions of individual and team rivalries build throughout the six separate contests, in subjects ranging from Algebra I to Trigonometry. A good performance under such conditions is, at best, difficult, yet, under Mr. Markham's able coaching, North Reading's Math Club has performed consistently well.

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY

The National Honor Society chapter of North Reading is a member of the National organization. It is dedicated to the encouragement of the exceptional, all-around student through recognition.

To qualify for the Honor Society, a student must be outstanding in four areas: character, scholarship, leadership, and service. Ten per cent of the Junior class may be elected as members and fifteen per cent of the Senior class. Five per cent of the Sophomore class may be elected as provisional members.

Members of the club, fulfilling the high standards of the National Honor Society, take turns reading the opening exercises.

LITERARY AND DEBATE CLUB

This year the Literary and Debate Clubs have joined to form one bifunctional organization under the advice and direction of Mr. Culley and Mr. Powell. The club meets biweekly under the leadership of the co-presidents, Karen Morton and Linda Shideler. Karen heads the production of the literary magazine, Scribbles and Scratches, and Linda conducts practice debates for the club. Debaters, through experience in speaking and formal argument in League and practice debates, and in exercises such as extemporaneous speeches, seek the ability to reason and argue logically, coherently, and on a firm, factual basis. The debaters are preparing for contests with teams from other local schools on this year's resolve: that the federal government should adopt a program of compulsory arbitration in labor-management disputes in basic industries. Club members also write for the magazine and discuss each other's various styles to develop and improve their writing ability.

Concert and Christmas Program for the Rotary displays to the people of the town the band's abilities. In the Northeastern District Music Festival last year, our band earned an honor rating of first in their class.

Every year a musical is produced in which every member of the glee club participates. In the past few years, such shows as Flower Drum Song, Lil 'Abner, Oklahoma and My Fair Lady have been put on. There is always a full house both nights because these shows are done so professionally and the group has built up a great reputation for themselves.

The Art Club, advised by Mr. Hughes, is one of the most productive organizations at North Reading High School. There is a constant demand on its many talented members to provide library displays, colorful holiday decorations and hallway displays, as well as scenery for school plays. Each member is responsible for an individual project, be it sculpture, oil painting, ceramics, or technical designing. These students deserve much credit for their cultural addition to the school.

The purpose of the squad is to improve the concept of audio-visual aids. They accomplish this by aiding teachers and students in educational films, and tape recordings as well as other equipment. The members independently carry out their duties, with the assistance of Mr. Brennan, as Mr. Sampson's office is in the junior high school.

The squad also trains teachers and junior high students on various machines and distributes research material, and produces original instructional material. They conduct programs of their own, including feature Hollywood films to supply the funds necessary to purchase new equipment for the A. V. Department.

YEARBOOK

A group of students hoping to make Golden Years 1966 the best yearbook yet, and willing to work hard to achieve this goal, make up the yearbook staff.

The advisor and editor-in-chief are Mrs. Teixeira and Nancy Fitzgerald, respectively.

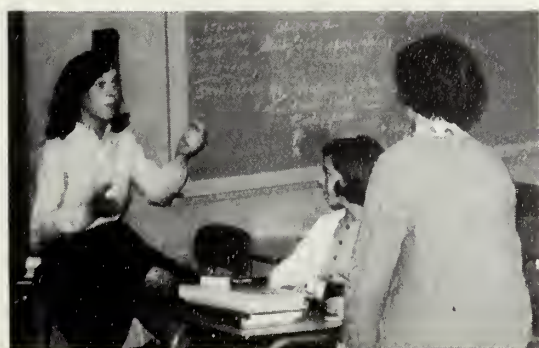

They are several committees on the staff such as layout, copy, sales, advertisements, typists and photographers, all important in putting together a good book.

Many hours were spent composing this book and it is hoped it will, in future years, provide pleasure to the student in looking back at his high school years.

The Drama Club, under the advisorship of Mrs. Dell, has been newly organized. The members are students who are interested in drama though they may not have special talent.

The purpose of the club is to acquaint its members with the drama and the direction of plays. The club hopes to accomplish a study of the theories of writing and presenting plays. They have planned to attend events at Emerson College, the New England Conservatory of Music, and other schools and colleges to learn more about drama.

DRAMA

"All the world's a stage,
And all the men and women merely players.
They have their exits and their entrances,
And one man in his time plays many parts,
His acts being seven ages."

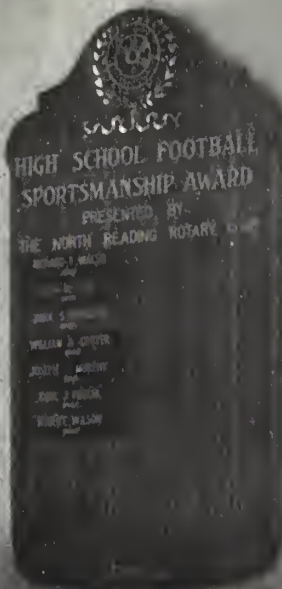

*Of in sadness and in illness,
I have watched thy current glide,
Till the beauty of its stillness
Overflowed me, like a tide.*

*And in better hours and brighter,
When I saw thy waters gleam,
I have felt my heart beat lighter,
And leap onward with thy stream.*

CROSS-COUNTRY

Running matured as a major sport this past fall as a large squad answered Coach Mannheim's call for hill and dalers. Finishing third in the fast Cape Ann League was a creditable showing for North Reading.

Senior men who will miss Big John's time trials and the grueling yet enjoyable hours spent on the hills preparing for each week's run are Co-Captains "Canuck" Devine and "Crickett" McFarland, "Legs" Caldwell, "Boze" Strachan, "Weasel" Sylvia, and "Obie" O'Brien.

A fine group of runners among underclassmen and growing student interest gives North Reading the potential for future successes in the cross-country run.

FIELD HOCKEY

When a goal is scored, not only the scorer but the whole team can be credited. To work together like this takes many hours of practicing stick work and having scrimmages. The girls' Field Hockey team has been participating in interscholastic games for approximately three seasons. In this short time they have improved and advanced a great deal in their skills. The season lasts from early September to mid-November, being scheduled for eight games.

The joint efforts of Captain Sandy McInerney, Coach Miss McLaughlin and the rest of the team's members, should prove this year to be a successful one and create new enthusiasm in this sport.

CHEERLEADERS

This year the cheerleaders added to our trophy case when they presented the school four ribbons won at summer cheering clinics.

The past two summers the girls also brought home great ideas for rallies and cheers, which they put to good use.

The cheerleaders, coached by Mrs. Eonas and co-captained by Julie Hobart and Anne Bonfanti, practice every day to attain perfect timing by game time.

The new uniforms for the basketball season will be financed by the profits from their third annual competition held in November.

"And they was runnin' around a cow field."

"Who's that struttin' down the street?"

"The LineUp Cheer."

"Who says we're hillbillies?"

An added attraction to the cheerleaders is Danni Smith's little sister Trina.

D. Keyser, C. Cardello, G. LaCascia, J. Jacques, S. Woodlock, P. Butler, P. Martino, N. Rierison, S. Mills, M. Hussey, K. Carr, A. Enos. KNEELING: K. Wilson, head majorette.

MAJORETTES

Football games, rallies, and practices, have occupied this year's majorettes. Sparkling new uniforms and a variety of twirls and marches were supplied by the girls as they successfully completed another football season.

The majorettes were guests at Bedford High School during the football season to help put on a well enjoyed half-time program with the Bedford Majorettes and the combined N. R. and Bedford bands.

April first, the date of the majorettes' dance was again dedicated to the seniors as it was called "Golden 66." It was only one of the fund raising activities put on by the girls during the year.

The Memorial Day Parade will conclude the long season as it will be the last time the squad of "65-66" will appear.

The four girl color guard in their new skirts, sashes, and berets head the majorettes and the band displaying the American and State Flags.

JUNIOR VARSITY FOOTBALL

FIRST ROW: P. Smith, G. Simmons, V. Sanders, D. Cronin, T. Fitzgerald, R. MacNeil, R. Magliozzi, R. Downs, R. Bigham, C. Bonfanti. SECOND ROW: Mr. Sargent, D. Peck, E. Balich, A. Roberts, D. Anderson, G. Clabo, J. Pope, F. Colinino, K. Schaefer, J. Frost, L. Fitch, J. Clark.

Through hours of exhausting practice, the junior varsity football team has become a success.

Coaches Sargent and Coates, through instruction and demonstration, present new and more difficult skills and point out mistakes with constructive criticism. Their efforts have produced a winning jayvee season.

Junior Varsity football is a key factor in developing a future varsity football player. The jayvee players gain experience and confidence, two important requirements for a good varsity ball player. The earnestness with which our jayvees participated in their sport provides depth for our present team and hope for future teams.

The freshman football team, coached by Mr. Roy, is a study in contrasts. The heights of the boys range from four feet five inches to six feet two inches, and there is a 125 pound difference between the lightest and heaviest players.

Drills in blocking, tackling, offensive and defensive stances, and learning the different formations and plays before actual experience is the key method used by the team.

The boys worked hard and finished their season undefeated.

FOOTBALL

Despite an over-all record of four wins and five losses, the North Reading High School football team finished in third position in the Cape Ann League.

Under the direction of Coach Walter Miller and Tri-captains Allan Legrow, Bill Tryder, and Mike Conchiglia, the Hornet ballclub showed that it had the potential and ability to win.

Closing out the regular season, the team sported a respectable 4-4 record, with only arch rival Lynnfield standing in the way of a winning season. Two determined and well-drilled football teams met Thanksgiving Day before some 4,000 fans to do battle. Lynnfield drew first blood, scoring on a long running play in the second period. The Hornet team rallied, but a late touchdown drive was thwarted by a fluke interception with 17 seconds remaining, and Lynnfield prevailed for the seventh year in a row.

With undefeated Freshman and Junior Varsity squads returning next season to join the seasoned veterans, North Reading should do well in future years. This year's Senior Class wishes them luck and success in their efforts.

GYMNASTICS

Gymnastics is a sport which requires muscular dexterity and control, skill in movement, and perfect timing and rhythm. Many long practices result in splendid performances demonstrating grace and ease. Imagination also plays an important role in gymnastics. Composing routines, whether free exercise, or on the balance beam, is no simple matter, but must be imaginatively and practically planned.

The N.R. Hornets Basketball team is in their first year of Cape Ann competition, 1964-65 being the last year of Dual County play. Coached by Mr. Olivo, the team hopes their first season in the new league will be a big one.

The team is led by 6'2" co-captains Dick Hassinger, a 300 point scorer last season and a fine all around player, and Craig Lindgren, a 6'4" forward, a 160 point scorer and an excellent rebounder. The other starters are: Bob Russell, a real hustler, who at 6'7" is the tallest man on the squad; Bert Allen, a 6' guard who is a good passer and playmaker; Allan LeGrow a 6' guard who plays offense and defense equally well, and 6'6" Dean Salter, the only junior among the starters, who has developed into a fine rebounder.

BASKETBALL

These boys are backed-up by a strong bench which consists of 5'11" Roger Young, a transfer student from Texas playing his first year of basketball for N.R.; Jim Pebler, a 6' junior who is a fine shooter, and Joe Lawler, the only sophomore on the team who at 6'4" has a lot of potential. The team is managed by Mike Lavoie. Assisting Mr. Olivo is Mr. Clarkin, making his North Reading coaching debut. Combining many long hours of hard practicing with the skill of these players results in a team with the potential to have a successful season.

GIRLS' BASKETBALL

The girls' season runs approximately the same time as the boys' basketball season, but the girls are not required to train as strenuously as the boys. Keeping in condition is very important, although the girls' rules are less rugged than the boys'. The girls practice plays, passes, shooting and strategy, and under the coaching of Miss Carley they have successful seasons.

This sport requires a great deal of team work, and this can only be achieved by the cooperation and unselfishness of each player. Remembering this is a great asset to the girls in their games.

INDOOR TRACK

Indoor track was added to our winter sports calendar for the first time this past 1965-66 season. A hardy band of North Reading men who have to do their training each week in the out-of-doors on a frozen and often snow-covered track, move into the Andover Academy field house on scheduled Mondays to compete on the "boards" with some of the top rated school boy track squads in the North Shore area.

The respectable showing of North Reading in this first season of indoor running and the interest manifested foretells a fine future for the sport.

Considerable credit must go to Coach John Mannheim for his efforts in inaugurating this first winter track season.

LEADERS CLUB

The Leaders Clubs include those boys and girls who are willing to give up a study period to help Mr. Levey and Miss McLaughlin conduct their classes. Their duties include taking class attendance, leading vigorous exercises, and instructing the fundamentals of various sports.

To be eligible for membership in the Leaders Club, a student must be in good standing scholastically, have a good knowledge of the basic fundamentals of several sports, and evidence qualities of leadership and responsibility.

Leaders Club serves a vital function in North Reading's physical education program by freeing Mr. Levey and Miss McLaughlin from the more mundane details of the classes. They are then able to devote a greater portion of their class time to individual instruction.

N.R. HELPS

Mr. Jack Twyman addressing the student body and meeting with the Maurice Stokes committee.

In 1958, a professional basketball player with the Cincinnati Royals was struck with encephalitis. For six months he lay in a coma. Upon gaining consciousness, Maurice Stokes found that he was completely paralyzed.

During the past nine years he has gained limited control over some of his muscles but is still considered a paraplegic.

In 1964-65 the technical group at North Reading High School heard about his plight and the staggering cost of it. They, with the help of the entire student body, sponsored a dance and a car wash that raised almost $550. This year the students have again elected to aid Maurice in paying for the tremendous cost of his illness.

Mr. Jack Twyman, a teammate of Maurice Stokes, has taken it upon himself to become Maurice's legal guardian and it has cost him more than $300,000 to keep Maurice in the hospital up to this point.

The student body would like to feel that they have contributed in some small way in deferring a part of this cost.

Maurice Stokes' battle to regain the use of his limbs serves as an inspiration to the student body and the people throughout the world.

"Get in there!"

"Quiet they might hear."

"Oh, this waiting . . ."

AND THE ECSTASY

"Gasp . . . It's a victory . . ."

"Show me a team that can beat
N. R. and I'll eat my sock!"

"Yeah!! Yeah!!"

More than this; thy name reminds me
Of three friends, all true and tried;
And that name, like magic, binds me
Closer, closer to thy side.

Longfellow

SENIORS

CLASS HISTORY

Some of the hard fought action in the Junior-Senior Powder-puff football game, played in our Junior year.

In the fall of 1962 the class of 1966 entered their freshman year. The High School was not new to us, for we spent our junior high school years here, but the feeling of being a freshman was new. Our class activities were limited, but we became very active in extra-curricular clubs and sports. We were the first class to have freshman cheerleaders, now a tradition. Our class officers were: President, Claire Goullaud; Vice President, Brenda Snyder; Treasurer, Gail Jordan; Secretary, Susan Mills.

We have a small sophomore history, but there is one event that should stand out in our memories, and that is the "Harvest Hop."

It was held during the Fall season of our sophomore year, and was one of the biggest successes in the school's history. There were many of our classmates who were responsible for this achievement, among them are the class officers: President, Terry Emerson; Vice President; Bill Tryder; Secretary, Nancy Reiersen; and Treasurer, John Gleason.

The cafeteria was festively decorated for the occasion, and everyone completely enjoyed the entertainment provided by Bruce Bradley, Disc-jockey from WBZ in Boston, who made the night a tremendous success.

Our Junior Year proved to be one of hard work and great fun. A number of things were planned, some for fun, and others to raise money. The Powder Puff game was the first of these activities. The girls were divided into two teams, one coached by Mr. Lockwood, the other by Mr. Keyes. When the final gun had sounded, Mr. Lockwood's team had won 14-0. This game added to our treasury as well as to the enjoyment of the spectators, led in cheers by our two cheerleaders, "Roberta" Ells and "Sally Sanders. The winning team was challenged by the seniors and pulled out a come from behind victory of 8-6!

Our Junior Prom was another big event. Our theme, "Over the Rainbow" was gaily and creatively realized in the cafeteria. Highlight of the evening came when our queen, Donna Pinson, and her court, Jeanne Cody, Jean Allin, Sue Parow and Lee Zarick were chosen. A fine time was had by all and it's doubtful any of us will forget it. Our last "fling" as Juniors was at our Junior Beach Party which had been promised the year before by a candidate for Junior Class office. It proved to be great fun and was an appropriate way to end our "underclassmen" years. Our officers were: Bert Allen, President; Nick Boniface, Vice President; Danni Smith, Secretary; and Anne Bonfanti, Treasurer.

The Queen, her court and their escorts.

Both teams are in a huddle . . .

SENIOR ACTIVITIES

"Now I got'cha!"

Helps build strong bodies 12 ways!

There was plenty of help at the spaghetti supper and it was well attended.

Traditionally, the Senior Class has sponsored a spaghetti supper in the fall of each year to raise money for the various senior activities.

This year, the supper was given added impetus from plans for a "senior week." The supper saw Mr. Olivo and his team of seniors dishing out pounds of spaghetti to crowds of hungry students and their parents. The proceeds from the ticket sales assured the seniors of an adequate fund for their "senior week" activities.

Another money-raising event was the senior-faculty football game, in which the senior boys had a once in a lifetime chance to meet as opposing players their teachers. Although it was a tough game, the seniors, much to the dismay of all, were defeated.

"It's ready!"

FIRST ROW: G. Jordan, S. Parow, K. Morton, J. Quinlan, G. Crossman, G. O'Malley, S. Evans, P. Miller. SECOND ROW: Mr. Culley, Mr. Roy, J. Hobart, B. Middleton, P. Jeanes, J. Smedberg, J. Brawley, T. Cartwright, J. Penney, T. Emerson, L. Mugford, Student Director.

Mr. Roy directs a cast member.

The senior play this year was The Night of January 16th by Ayn Rand. It was an exciting courtroom drama with a wide variety of characters. The slick young district attorney was played by John Penney and the defending attorney by Terry Emerson. Other members in this colorful cast were Magda Svenson, the Swedish maid, Roberta Van Rensselaar, the flapper, and Van Fleet, the natty detective. Besides being somewhat more dramatic than previous senior plays, this one had a new twist: a jury was selected from the audience. These people, randomly chosen, became part of the cast in the role of jury and they decided the verdict.

Bailiff Brawley swears in.

"Walk together, talk together O ye peoples of the earth . . ."

Sue and her American family, Mrs. Black and Cindy.

This year, under the American Field Service exchange student program, North Reading was host to Susan Evans, of Cheshire, England.

Staying at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Earland Black, and their daughter Cynthia, Susan became very much a part of the student body. She raced to the bus on Monday mornings, and rode to school, calling across the aisle about that "fiendish" English test coming up fourth period. Jostling through the corridors between classes, she rushed to beat the bell, and impatiently watched the clock, last period of the day, waiting for the dismissal bell to ring.

She shouted "move that ball!" at the football games, madly waving a green-and-gold shaker, and stayed up until eleven, cramming for an anatomy test. Insisting that she didn't have an accent at all, she informed us that she was the only one in the school who could actually speak English!

During the year, we came to think of "England" as Susan, with her quick smile and merry "Cheerio!" As she returns home, she leaves behind with us memories of that year when, at North Reading, you could meet a little bit of England.

In the American way. . . .

Tea time?

Rule Britannia, Britannia rules the waves. . . .

EXECUTIVE COUNCIL

Most of the plans for the senior class are formulated by the Executive Council. The Executive Council is comprised of the class officers, elected by the class annually, and the homeroom representatives, elected by the individual homerooms annually.

A variety of things concerning the class are discussed at meetings held by the council, and members of the class can make suggestions which will be discussed. The Executive Council has been busy this year forming money-making ideas and planning a senior week. Our Senior Week would probably begin with the prom, include a catered breakfast, a class trip, and a banquet, and end with Graduation and the annual All Night Party, sponsored by the Rotary. If these plans materialize, senior week will be a very enjoyable time.

An Executive Council meeting.

Class Prophecy

November 1, 1985

Dear Fellow Graduates,

Plans are now complete for the twentieth reunion of the Class of 1966, North Reading High School. We are sure that you will not want to miss this opportunity to see old friends and renew old acquaintances. Here are some of the details.

The reunion will be held on the Night of January the Sixteenth, 1986. Emperor Erik Hart has kindly lent us the use of his South-Pacific castle, which landscape architect Ed Chepulis has lavishly beautified for the occasion. Transportation for the entire group and spouses has been arranged, courtesy of Ted Cartwright, world's richest man, on a Super 140-Delta Rocket, flown by Jim Smedberg and maintained by Joe Difraia.

Our activities begin with a morning surfing lesson under the able instruction of Marty (Hangin' Ten) Hussey and Bob Beaumont, both of whom have surfed the world over.

This enjoyable pastime will be followed by luncheon and a social hour. Background music will be provided by an imported English group, "The Wynne-Evans Five."

This will be followed by a nature walk to the Coral Reef, led by Jim Jolin, eminent Marine Biologist.

Returning to the Castle, Terry Emerson, spy par excellence, will show his secret eyelash camera films showing why Lynnfield did not deserve to win the last Thanksgiving Day Game, and will produce the orange turkey, which he extracted by secret means from the Lynnfield Trophy case.

Ted learns how to become rich.

Sue Evans, leader of the Wynne-Evans Five.

Dr. Caldwell discovers . . .

Will It Come True?

Dinner will then be served, during which color sound films of David Jordan beating a G.T.O. in his '58 will be shown. The sound system will be provided by the electrician firm of Cooke and Cooke.

Between dinner and dessert, a showing of the exclusive spring collection of the Fashion House of Ralston, Ralston, and Ralston, will be presented by models from the Mademoiselle Cody Modeling Salon.

After dessert, a lively discussion of the "Effects of the Pseudo-Phoniness of the Brownian Motion of the Hypertense Nucleus of the Oxygen Atom on the Ability of the Human Subject to tell Applesauce from Mashed Potatoes," for which Dr. Thomas W. Caldwell won the Nobel Prize in Chemistry, and Dr. James Alexander won the Nobel Prize in Psychology, for their joint efforts, will take place.

Later in the evening, Skip Sanders, Mike Conchiglia and Bill (The Barrell) Tryder, now coaches, and formerly stars, of the Baltimore Colts will arrive, late because of a championship play-off with the Cleveland Browns. They will show action films of the great moments in the Colts-Giant Game which decided the title last year.

To conclude the evening, Mr. Fred Keyes, Mr. Alan Lockwood, and Mr. William Haney will make a guest appearance singing songs from their new Broadway hit, "How To Succeed in Teaching Without Really Trying."

The evening should be fun — plan to come and see how many of us are bald!

R.S.V.P.

Business arrangements will be under the supervision of Joanne Garland and Carolyn Elston, and Home Economic Management will be under the direction of Sylvia Lindley.

Three of Mlle. Cody's Models.

Bill Tryder, all-pro flanker, receives instructions from a referee.

Mr. Haney, singing one of his latest hits. "I Got Them Tired O'Teachin' Blues."

In Appreciation

We, the class of 1966, offer this page in appreciation to our Senior class advisor, Mr. Keyes, as a small expression of the deep gratitude we have for him. A friend to all, Mr. Keyes looks for the good in everyone and is interested in the well-being and success of those he comes in contact with.

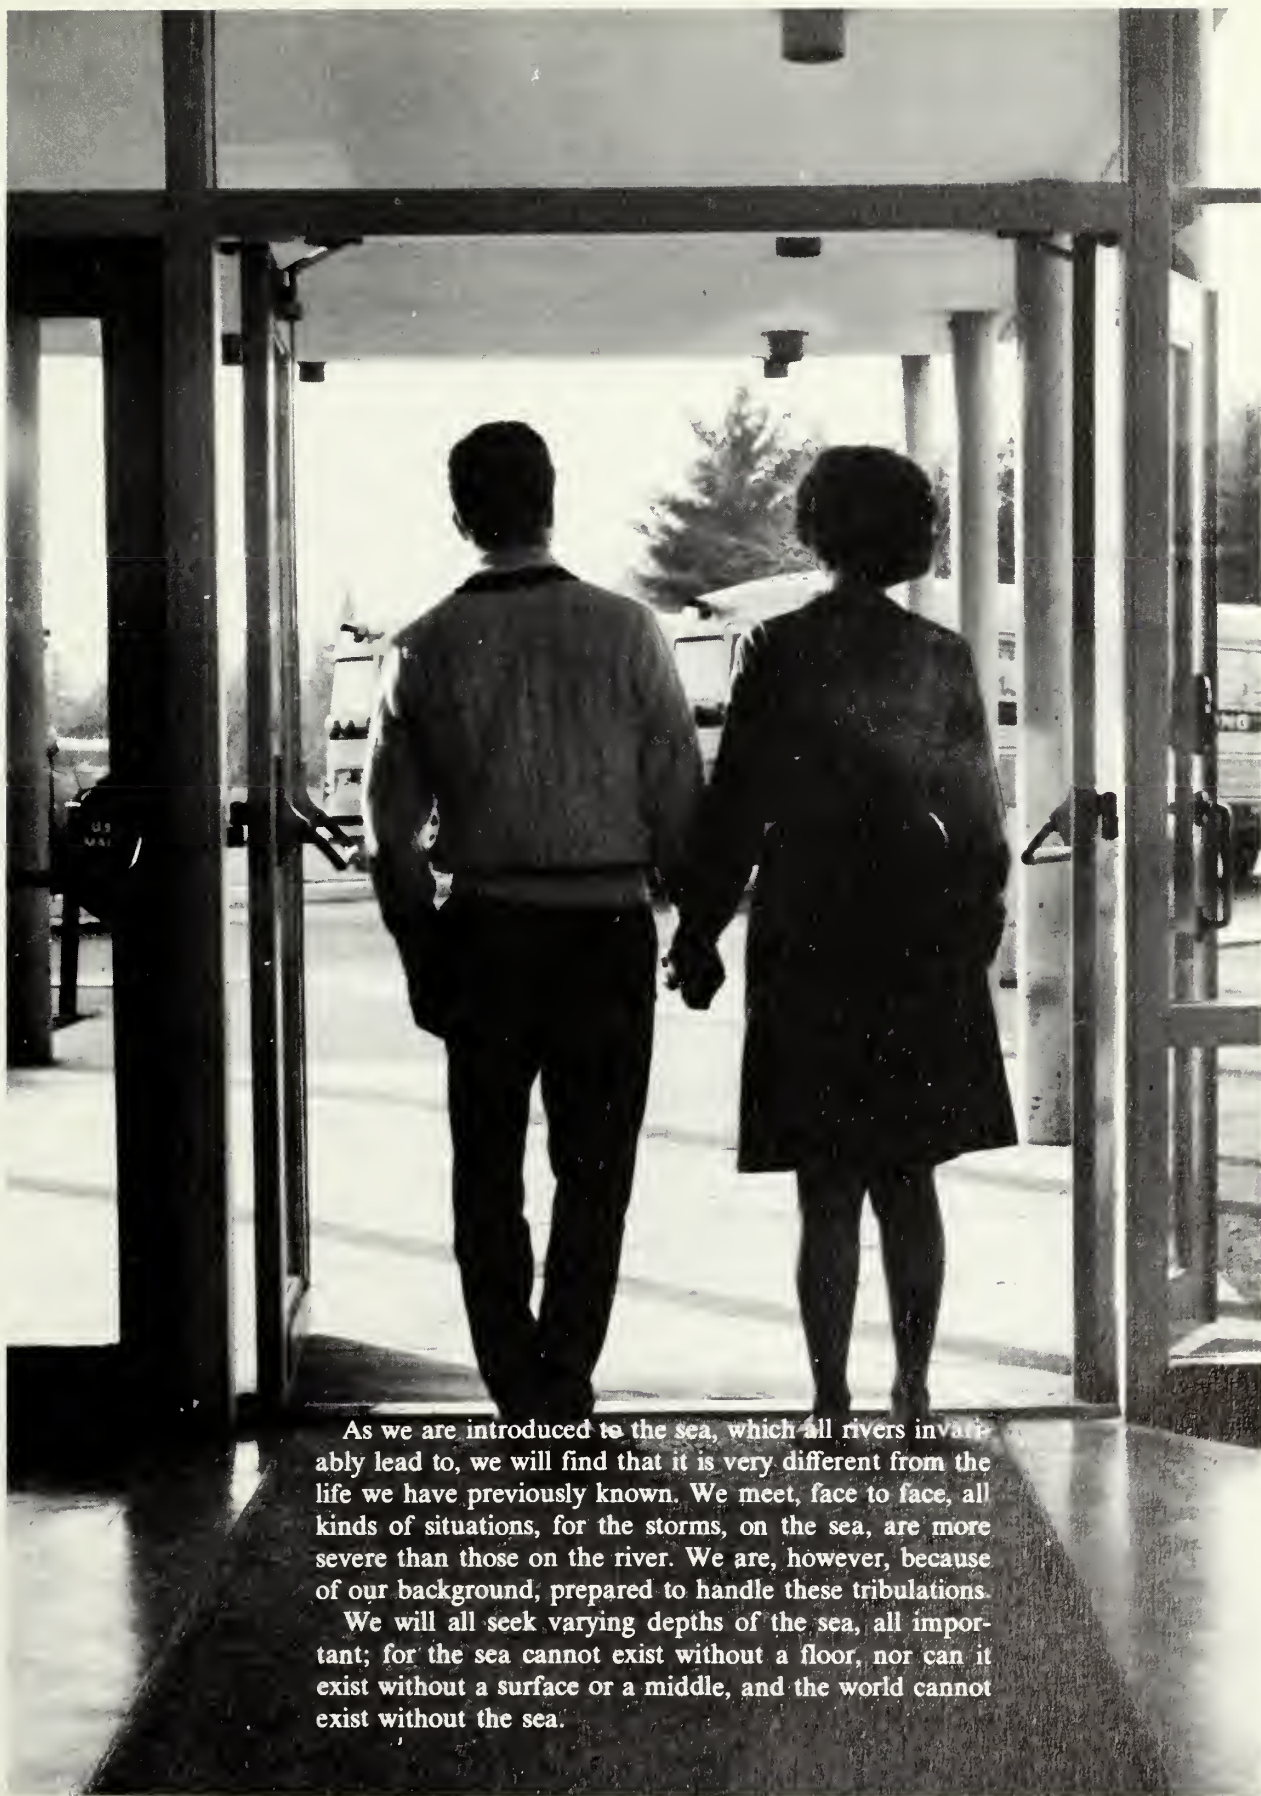

Whether it's a date for the prom or a little trouble with English, Mr. Keyes is always around to help.

Mr. Keyes, as our class advisor, has meant a great deal to all of us and the success of our many and varied projects has been due in a large part to him.

Mr. Keyes, to you we can only say thank-you, and we hope that you won't forget us. We know we won't forget you.

As we are introduced to the sea, which all rivers invariably lead to, we will find that it is very different from the life we have previously known. We meet, face to face, all kinds of situations, for the storms, on the sea, are more severe than those on the river. We are, however, because of our background, prepared to handle these tribulations.

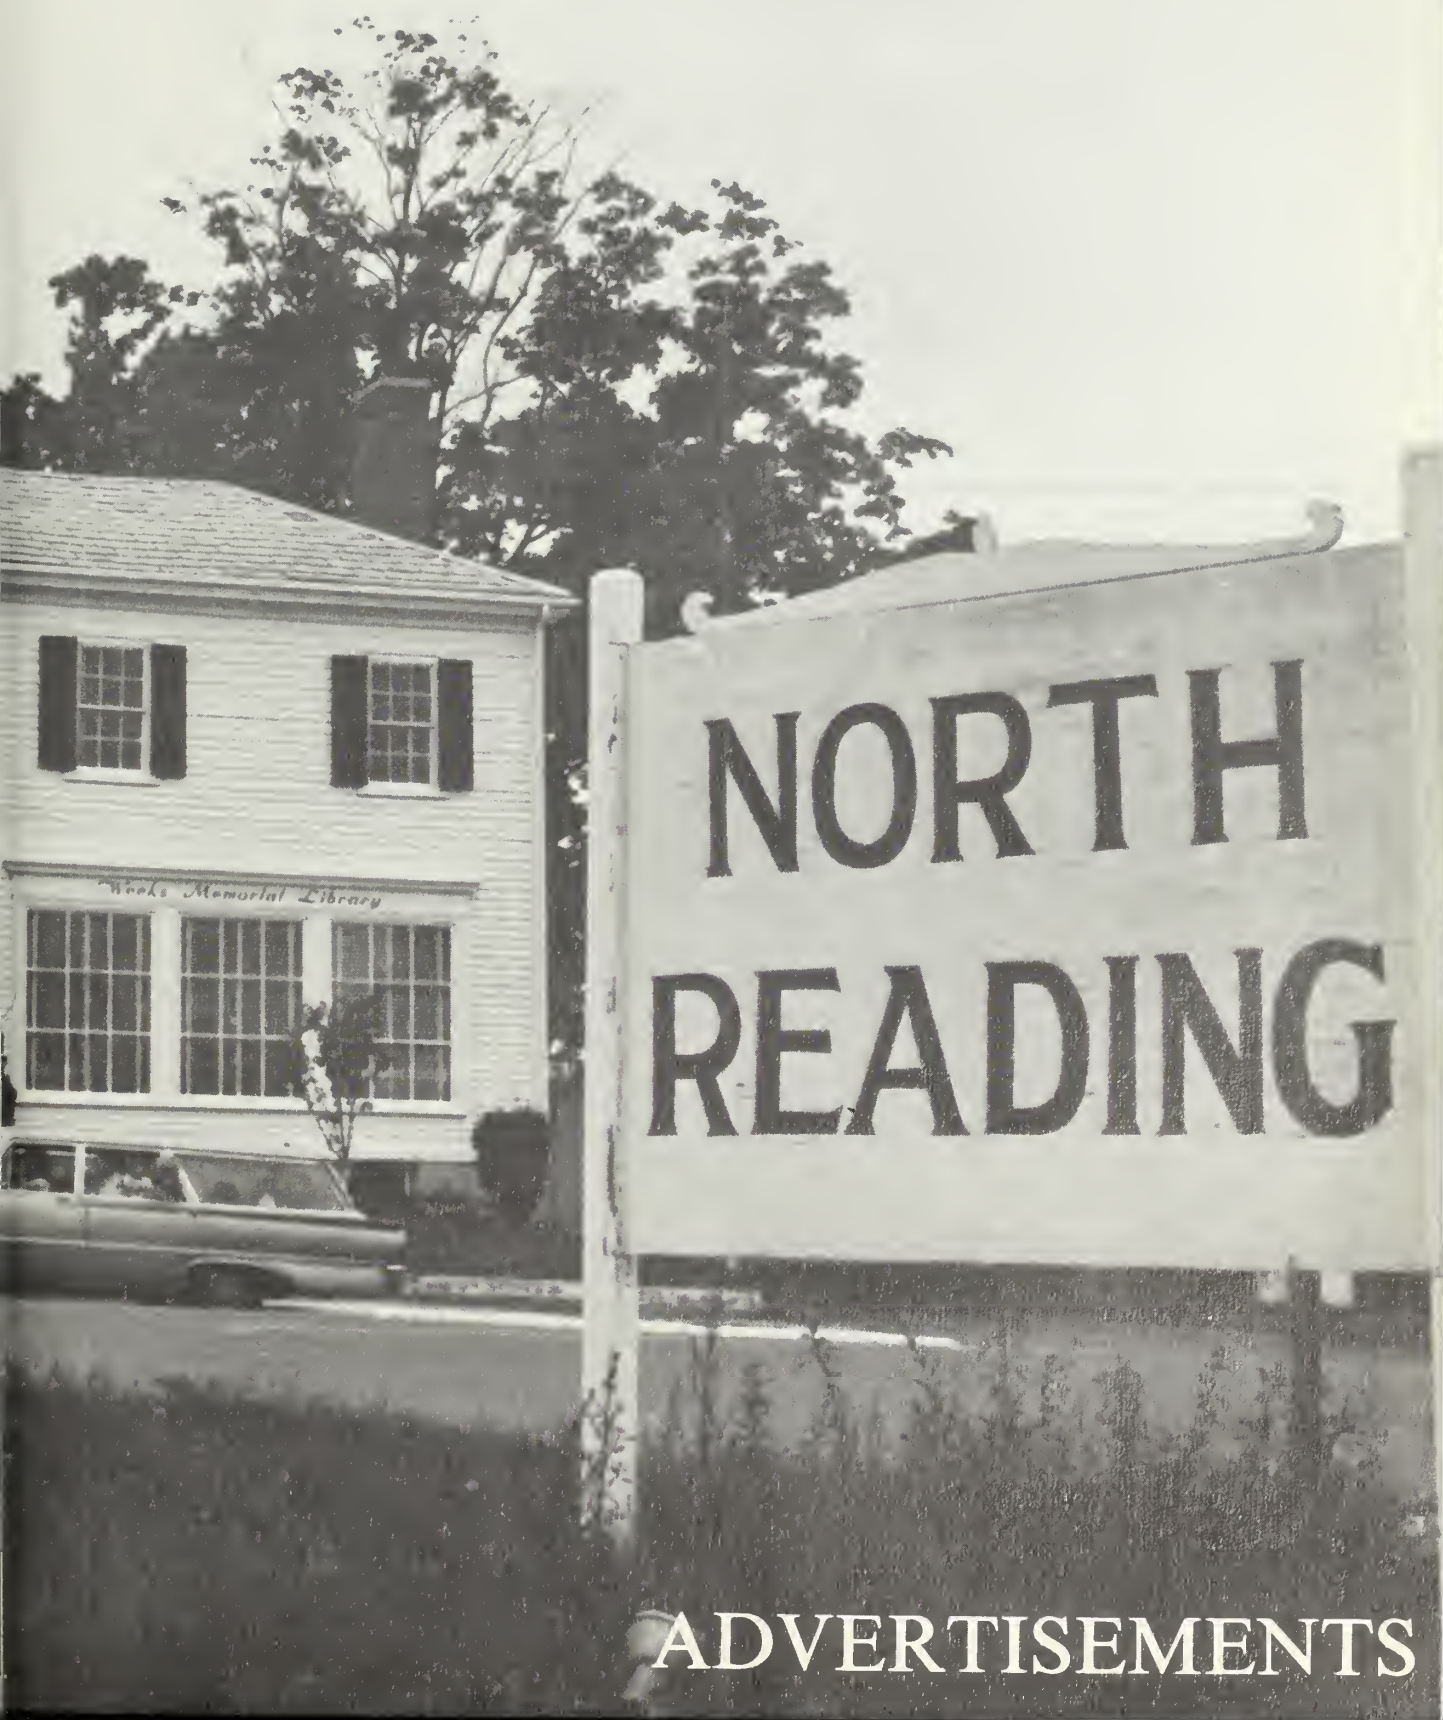

We will all seek varying depths of the sea, all important; for the sea cannot exist without a floor, nor can it exist without a surface or a middle, and the world cannot exist without the sea.
